Women of Spirit
the art of mara friedman

Mara Berendt Friedman has been creating paintings that honor the Feminine aspect of Spirit for more than a decade. Her imagery draws inspiration from cultures around the world, the cycle of the seasons and universal symbols and form. Ms. Friedman's work blends diverse influences, from the paintings of Georgia O'Keeffe and Marc Chagall to Tibetan, Hindu, Aboriginal, African and Native American art.

Women of Spirit: The Art of Mara Friedman 2009 wall calendar features thirteen enchanting images inspired by the artist's deep appreciation for the beauty that surrounds us all. Ms. Friedman is the illustrator of the Triple Goddess Tarot and one of nineteen artists who participated in the 2004 Mythic Journeys Art Exhibition honoring Joseph Campbell. Her work has been featured in numerous books, calendars and other publications worldwide.

Sample caption:
Redwood Heart Warrior,
May you face fear with love as you walk thru the dark doorway of doubt.
May you enter the radiant field of faith and be tenderly held in trust's embrace.
May you be carried by gentle clouds of compassion.
May you wear the golden crown of freedom!
